Testing Guide - Latest Updates

Thanks for helping test the app! Here's everything that's new. Your data is saved only in your own browser - no account needed.

Before You Start

- 1 Open the app link shared with you - it runs in your phone or browser.
- 2 Go to Settings tab, type a name, then tap Create to make your profile.
- 3 Add a few exercises: Schedule tab -> + Add exercise.
- 4 Four tabs at the bottom: Today / Schedule / Progress / Settings.

1

Adding Exercises Keeps the Same Day

What it does: When adding exercises back-to-back, the app remembers the day you last picked instead of jumping back to today.

Try it:

- 1 Schedule tab -> + Add exercise.
- 2 Change Day to Saturday, fill in the rest, tap Save.
- 3 Tap + Add exercise again - Day should still be Saturday.
- 4 Add one more - still Saturday. Good for loading up a day quickly.
- 5 Refresh the page, then + Add exercise - now it defaults back to today.

2

Reps and Weight Per Set

What it does: Each exercise can have different reps and an optional weight per set. Set a default and it fills all sets; tweak any individually.

Try it:

- 1 Schedule -> + Add exercise. Enter a name.
- 2 Set Sets to 3, Default reps to 10 - the 3 set rows all show 10.
- 3 Enter Default weight of 20 - every set's weight fills with 20.
- 4 Change one set's reps (e.g. set 3 -> 15) and one set's weight (e.g. -> 25).
- 5 Save. The card should summarise e.g. 3 x 10,15 and 'weights vary'.
- 6 Change Sets to 5 - two new pre-filled rows appear. Drop to 2 - rows shrink.

3 Workout Mode That Saves As You Go

What it does: Edit reps/weight per set, tick sets done, add or remove sets for the day - all saved automatically. Your original plan never changes.

Try it:

- 1 Make sure today has at least one exercise (e.g. Pull Ups, 3 x 10, weight 20).
- 2 Today tab -> tap Start workout.
- 3 Tick a set (circle turns green). Change a rep count or weight.
- 4 Tap + Add set for an extra set; tap X to remove a set.
- 5 Tap Close - the button changes to Resume workout.
- 6 Refresh the page -> tap Resume - everything is still there.
- 7 Check Schedule tab - your original plan is unchanged.
- 8 Resume -> Finish -> 'Workout saved' appears under Recent workouts.

Rest timer: while in a workout, tap 60s / 90s / 120s to start a countdown. It beeps when done - make sure your phone is not on silent.

4 Edit or Delete a Past Workout

What it does: Fix a saved workout or remove one entirely from your history.

Try it:

- 1 Today tab -> find a workout under Recent workouts.
- 2 Tap Edit -> change a rep count, weight, or tick/untick a set, then Finish.

3 Tap Delete on a workout -> confirm -> it is removed from history.

4 Refresh to confirm your edits and deletions stuck.

5 Progress Chart: Reps + Weight

What it does: Each exercise chart shows two bars per workout - mint for total reps and lavender for heaviest weight - so you can see strength trends over time.

Try it:

1 Do a few workouts for the same exercise, nudging the weight up (e.g. 20 -> 25 -> 30).

2 Open Progress tab - see paired mint/lavender bars with a Reps/Weight legend.

3 Hover or tap a bar - it shows that day's reps and weight.

4 Tap a bar - it opens the full workout details.

Also Worth a Look

Progress tab: Shows a 'This week' summary - workouts and sets completed.

Dark mode: The moon/sun button (top-right) switches light and dark mode. Your choice is remembered.

Backup: Settings tab -> Export saves your data to a file; Import loads it back. Handy for moving between browsers.

Thanks again for testing! If anything looks wrong, note what you did and what happened - that is the most helpful feedback.
